LITERACY WORKS NAMES BETTYE HOLT-HASKINS CURRICULUM & TECHNOLOGY COORDINATOR

BALTIMORE (Nov. 9, 2004) – Literacy Works, Inc. – a nonprofit organization that coordinates, promotes and supports adult and family literacy services – has named Betty Holt-Haskins coordinator of curriculum and technology. The 30-year education veteran will provide program development, evaluation and reporting, as well as staff training and supervision.

Holt-Haskins, who was named, “Outstanding Instructor” by the Baltimore City Council, previously served as director of education for the National Education Corporation and Philadelphia Training Center. She also served as a curriculum designer and trainer for learning disabilities, computer literacy, computer software and tutoring programs for the Epilepsy Foundation Abilities Network, as well as her own consulting firm.

A WE, Inc. Board member, Holt-Haskins earned a bachelor’s degree from Morgan State University and a master’s degree from Johns Hopkins University.

“I look forward to using my experience as a trainer to develop new strategies for literacy programs, particularly programs for adults with learning disabilities,” said Holt-Haskins, who resides in Baltimore’s Evergreen community.

Founded in 1990, Literacy Works, Inc. operates adult learning centers in Rosedale/Essex, Lansdowne, Randallstown, Chase and Washington Village/Pigtown. For more information about the organization and its programs, call 410-887-2001.
